CISRS TRAINING PROVISION EXPANDED IN SOUTH WEST

Provision and availability of CISRS training in the South West has been boosted following investment by LTC Training Services.

The training provider has expanded its Plymouth training centre, enabling the firm to convert old offices into three extra training rooms. These facilities have already played host to CPD, COTS, Basic and Inspection courses.

LTC Training Services Ltd's Managing Director Neil Gray has said: "We are delighted with the outcome of the new facilities at our Plymouth Training Centre and are now exploring the option of expanding the practical training area. This is further evidence that LTC is continuing to invest for the future."

The company has also added CPD to the range of courses delivered at their depot in Cullompton and employed an additional CISRS Instructor to help meet increased demand for training in the South West region.

Following a recent accreditation visit to LTC's Plymouth facility, Trevor Donoghue, CISRS Auditor, said: "LTC has obviously made significant investments in their facilities in Devon. The training delivery at the centre has always been of a very high standard, the specification to which they have fitted out the new classrooms and meeting areas are now equally impressive.

"It is really positive to see CISRS providers looking to develop their centres increasing capacity whilst improving the training delegates experience."
