CISRS and Training Centres to offer Subsidised Courses to Launch CISRS CPD Phase 2

The Construction Industry Scaffolders Record Scheme (CISRS) will once again, with the support of a group of their approved training centres, be offering a number of subsidised CPD courses across the UK in the coming months.

These funded programmes will coincide with the launch of CISRS CPD Phase 2 which will go live Monday 1st August 2022.

The requirement to successfully complete the CPD refresher course started in July 2017, when became mandatory for Scaffolders and Advanced Scaffolders wishing to renew their cards.

Initially driven by HSE through their involvement with the Access and Scaffolding Industry Training

Organisation, (ASITO) CISRS accepted that this was the correct decision for such a safety critical sector. Although at the time there were other trades which already had similar requirements e.g electricians, CISRS faced opposition from some within the sector following the initial launch. It was however, seen by wider industry as a positive move with CISRS often being cited as an exemplar card scheme.

Since its inception Over 20,000 Operatives have renewed their CISRS status after successfully completing the 2-day programme.

In the 5 years since its launch, CISRS and its participating training centres have offered a series of subsidised courses which allowed the delegates to attend for only £50, a saving of around £300 per course.

Funded programmes have taken place every year with the exception of 2020 which was hampered by COVID restrictions, however, in order to make up for this, additional courses took place in 2021.

In total 97 of these subsidised CPD courses have been made available at locations up and down the country, benefitting over 1000 individuals and seeing CISRS reinvest over £300,000 back into its stakeholders, those holding the industry recognised qualification and card.

CISRS Compliance Manager Tony Barry has hosted a series of lunchtime webinars to bring instructors up to speed with the new Phase 2 content.

The subsidised CPD courses will be held at the following centres:

- CITB NI (Northern Ireland) 11-12 October 2022
